Refuses to Attend Service
After Statement of Pastor

PLEAS OF VICAR

British Legionnaires Protest Armistice Day Incident

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Nov. 11—An Anglican pastor apologized today to the Duke of Windsor for an "insult" to a "man who couldn't defend himself," but the duke, nevertheless, shunned an Armistice day service within St. George's church because his presence previously had been declared unwelcome.

Reporters Get Blame
The pastor, the Rev. J. L. C.
Batters, explaining his expressed wish that the former British king and former head of the Church of England not attend the service, told
the British Legion:

"The very last thing I wished to do was to publicly insult a man who couldn't defend himself. Reporters made me do that. Nothing was further from my intentions. I saw that it was true. I wish to take this opportunity publicly to apologize."

The duke, however, refused.
The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, remaining within their hotel, bought poppies from an Englishwoman and gave them to British Legionnaires. The Windsors gave quite a bit to the veterans' fund in return for the poppies, the Englishwoman said.

Remains in Seclusion Windsor dismissed the car he had hired to his hotel and remained in his suite as his fellow World war veterans filed into Saint George's a few minutes before 11.

The Rev. Dart explained to a group of 60 British Legionnaires gathered at a small "protest meeting" outside the church that he was only expressing personal views
when he said yesterday:

CENSUS CARDS TO BE ISSUED

Cooperation of Public Is Sought In Obtaining Figures

Under the direction of John D. Biggers, administrator, a national census of the unemployed and partially unemployed will be taken from Nov. 16 to 20.

The number of unemployed will be determined from information secured by a voluntary individual registration. A card to be filled in and returned to the postoffice will be delivered to every home next Tuesday, Nov. 16. These cards then will be forwarded to the National Unemployment census at Washington.

Completed cards must be mailed before midnight Saturday, Nov. 20.

Not Registering For Jobs
Registration on the unemployment report card is in no sense registration for a job. Individual jobs will not be provided in this way.

Congress directed that the census be taken to provide information to aid in the formulation of a program for reemployment, social security and unemployment relief for the people of the country.

The card to be used in this census lists 14 questions about each individual who registers. To a large extent the card is self-explanatory, and in most cases it can be filled in by the individual without assistance.

One Card at Each Home
Only one card will be left at each dwelling unless the carrier has reason to believe that there are two or more unemployed workers.
Additional cards will be available at the postoffice or can be obtained upon request from any carrier.

All postmen will endeavor to endeavor to answer inquiries concerning the census and the report card and will, upon request, give assistance in filling out the report card.

The names of the signers will not be made public and all information on the cards will be considered confidential.

Blaze Threatens Stable, Two Ponies

A grass fire which threatened to destroy a small stable at the rear of the James Pidgeon residence, 718
S. Lincoln ave., at 2:21 p. m. Wednesday, kept firemen busy for one hour and a half.

The fire spread from a pile of burning leaves to a brush pile, igniting a wooden fence and then settling fire to the barn.

John Krauss, a neighbor, rushed into the barn and led out two ponies, owned by James Pidgeon Jr., before the fire department was called.

Firemen were again called out at 5:18, this time to extinguish a grass fire between Wilson and Prospect st. Several buildings were near the scene of this blaze, too.

Girard Grass Fire Threatens Factory

GIRARD, Nov. 11—A raging grass fire which outgrewed two fire companies and endangered huge tanks of linseed oil here late Wednesday, damaged the Standard
Textile plant, a linoleum concern, near here.

Although the fire was confined to storage sheds and damage was estimated at $1,000, Youngstown firemen answered calls when Girard firemen reported the blaze getting out of hand.

IMPROVE PLANT AT SALINEVILLE

Cleveland, New York Interests Buy
Pottery Plant; $150,000
Improvements Planned

SALINEVILLE, Nov. 11—A group of Cleveland and New York capitalists, headed by John Bahl of Canton, today acquired the Winterich China company's nine-kill pottery here, idle for three years. They prepared to resume operations after a $150,000 improvement program.

The new owners, who will operate under the name Bahl-Leek China Co. with Bahl as general manager, will install three tunnel kilns at a cost of $80,000 to supplant most of the upright kilns. They also expect to spend $75,000 enlarging the factory and installing other equipment.

Expensive chinaware will be manufactured and 200 persons will be employed.

The plant was sold by John Winterich of Cleveland, who purchased it three years ago from the receiver for the American Chinaware Corp., an ill-fated merger of eastern Ohio potteries.

The deal is expected to prove a boon to this southern Columbiana county village, which has been hard hit since suspension of the pottery, its chief industry.

COUNTERFEIT RING INDICTED

Six Members Had Been Arrested In Monaca,
Pa., Raid

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11—Six men named by federal agents as leaders of a nationwide counterfeiting ring were under indictment today.

Secret service agents seized two of the men, Mike Makal and Peter Kilovic, in a raid on a counterfeiting plant near Monaca in Beaver county last week.

Others indicted by a federal jury were Nicola Zrnice, arrested in Michigan; Peter Janus of Wooster,
O.; and Anton Sikich and Anthony Zietz of New York.

Approximately $23,000 in spurious $20 federal reserve notes, printing and engraving equipment and supplies of specially prepared paper were confiscated in the Monaca raid.

Col. Black Plans To Quiz Dalhove

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11—The state highway patrol today refused to declare an armistice on its hunt
for the slayer of Patrolman George Conn.

Col. Lynn Black, state patrol head, announced he would again question James Dalhove, surviving member of the Al Brady gang held at Indianapolis, for a possible solution to the slaying of the patrolman near Freeport, Sept. 27.

Black indicated he might await the outcome of Dalhove's murder trial on charges of killing two Indiana policemen and a grocery store clerk, before again facing the desperado.

MEDINA, Nov. 11—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. had until Nov. 30 to re-instate 44 employees laid off or discharged allegedly because of union activity. The National Labor Relations Board issued orders to this effect following hearings on workers' charges of discrimination.

LOUIS RAYMOND WINS CONTEST

Speaking on the subject "The Betrayal of Peace," Louis Raymond Jr., 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Raymond, of 303 W. Fifth st., won first place in the Prince of Peace declamation contest at the First Baptist church last night.

Raymond, a freshman in Salem High school, was presented a bronze medal by Rev. R. D. Walter, president of the Salem Ministerial association, which sponsored the contest. The winner will participate in the Columbiana county contest
early in December.

Seven high school students, three seniors, two juniors and two freshmen, competed in the local contest.
Miss Constance Clark was second.
She spoke on the subject, "What

The speeches of the various contestants were well received by the audience.

Gen. Hugh Johnson Cut Off Airwaves Due To His Talk

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Blunt-speaking General Hugh S. Johnson and National Broadcasting Co. officials today locked horns over the role of radio in the war against social disease.

The NBC officials after a hurried conference last night cancelled Johnson's regular commercial sponsored broadcast because it dealt in plain terms with the ravages of "public enemies Nos. 1 and 2," x x x syphilis and gonorrhea. A 15-minute "stand-in" musical program was substituted.

The radio officials later issued a statement saying they had tried unsuccessfully to reach General Johnson before the broadcast and added:

"The NBC is in entire sympathy with the war on social diseases, but has not yet found a way for radio to contribute to this campaign without seriously embarrassing the family group."

State, Nation Pause Today In Tribute To Soldier Dead

Vets Gather at Unknown Soldier's Tomb In Washington; Ohioans Hold Services

(By Associated Press)
The white marble tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery near Washington was the focal point today of the nation's Armistice day tribute to its soldier dead.

As in other years, the program called for President Roosevelt to place a wreath at 11 a. m. on the symbolic tomb on the heights above
the Potomac river.

In the chapel behind the tomb lay the medals which a grateful nation and its allies in the World war bestowed on the unknown hero.
There are Great Britain's Victoria
Cross "for valor" and France's Croix de Guerre for "le soldat inconnu."

There were services and wreaths also at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, the wartime president who lies buried in the National cathedral at Washington. American war mothers and the nurses who ministered to the wounded also were not forgotten.

All veterans group, in Washington and throughout the country, joined in observing the anniversary.

Armistice Day Is Memorable For Two Men, One-Time Mortal Enemies, But Friends Now

Fate Reunites Yank and German Many Years
After War

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Cap-
tor and captive!
Foes to the death in 1918 on the Marne, Joseph Schultz and Al
Reck recall World war days as Armistice is observed.

Rifles spat fire, hand grenades splattered and blasted and overhead giant shells droned through the air and fell with ear-splitting crashes!
This was 19 years ago as the two youths—one in field gray of the German shock troops; the other,
the khaki of the American army—
faced each other in the darkness
before the Marne river.

Both the German soldier and the American tried to kill each other during the Marne battle, one of the most terrible four hours of fighting in history of the World war. Reck, a lieutenant in command of a Company H 109th infantry platoon directly on the bank of the Marne, was one of the 11 men in his outfit left alive after the fighting, with Schultz in the vanguard opposing him.

Reunited Years Later
Reck was wounded and lay three days on the battlefield before being picked up by Schultz's regiment,
the Immenstadt mountain division of the infantry in the Hindenburg western command. He was taken back across the pontoon bridge just a few hours before Allied airplanes destroyed it with bombs. He spent six months in German prison camps, and Schultz who was also wounded was with him. Both recovered, Reck to return to America, and Schultz to serve on the Serbian front and later come to America where he runs a restaurant in Salt Lake City.

Reck is one of his most appreciated customers, as 19 years later they discuss that greatest of all Armistice days—when war ceased!

Smoke Inspector Blames Husbands For Soot, Smoke

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 11—Husbands
—those unsung heroes who forsake
the warmth of bed on chill winter mornings to pad down dim stairways in bedroom slippers and convert reluctant, clanking, iron-monsters into roaring furnaces—today got blame for something else, soot
and smoke.

Smoke Inspector A. W. Cope not only blamed "friend" husband for much of the soot and smoke that obscures the skies of large cities but even suggested that the little woman supervise his work.

Tip to Wives
"Since the women are the managers of the homes, we would suggest that they take friend husband down to the heating plant and put him through a severe examination on his knowledge as to how to handle that piece of equipment called the furnace," he suggested as a remedy.

Commented a random husband:
"I can't even get my wife out of bed after the furnace is hot so how am I going to do it when it's cold?"

Commented a random wife:
"If I tried to tell my husband
how to fire up, he'd soon have me doing it."

Still Hard to Arise
"Never throw fresh coal on hot coals if you can avoid it. If it becomes necessary to put in more coal when there is already a good fire because you must leave the house for a time too long for the fuel to last, sprinkle a liberal supply of ashes over one side of the fire and throw the fresh coal on the ash."

"The control of the air supply will regulate the amount of smoke and the efficiency of the furnace."
Which still doesn't make it any easier to get up.

Joseph Schultz and Al Reck.

William A. Kane, pastor of St.
Patrick's Roman Catholic church,
who rose from altar boy to a domes-

GRANGE CHIEF WANTS TO QUIT

Opposition To Taber's Desire To Resign Grows Among Grange
Members, However

(By Associated Press)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 11.—
Opposition to the expressed desire of Louis J. Taber of Columbus, O., to resign as master of the national grange, gained momentum today among delegates to the seventy-first annual convention.

Taber, who desired to return to private life after 14 years as national master—longer than anyone else ever held the post—and 37 years as a charter officer of the grange, was undecided as to his final action.

The 58-year-old grange leader, who owns an ordinary-sized farm near Barnesville, O., also is acting president of the Farmers and Traders Life Insurance company of Syracuse, N. Y. He said he had been offered a number of positions in private life but was undecided which he would accept.

His present job with the grange pays him $5,000 a year. There has been talk among the delegates that Taber's salary should be increased and that he should be given assistants, so that he would have more time to spend with his family. He has a wife, two sons and a grandson in Columbus.

IT WOULD HAPPEN AGAIN

Armistice day—the first one—was a release from despair—not an occasion for jubilation. There had been no triumph.

The armistice meant there would be no more casualty lists. It meant that wives and mothers and fathers who had been separated could be together again. It meant restoration of sanity in a mad world.

The World war was not glorious, even to the United States, which saw none of the fighting and suffered few of the privations that accompanied it. In 1919 the war had become a nightmare of death, waste, confusion and corruption.

Armistice day brought an end to these things. It seemed that nothing could be wrong thereafter, if only the war were really over. It was to be many years before the cynicism of the diplomats and militarists again was to have its inevitable effect on the relationships of people.

Armistice day would happen again if there were to be another war. There would be, finally, a time when even the soldiers and diplomats would welcome a truce in mutual recognition of their exhaustion. There would be no triumph, only release from despair. There would be the same fields of crosses, the same broken homes, mangled bodies, crushing debts and fierce hatreds that have darkened the years since the World war.

ANOTHER RABBIT?

The official buildup for the special congressional session is aimed at rehabilitating President Roosevelt's legislative leadership.

Thus, an attempt is being made to convince the country that the President is preparing himself by means of conferences to solve national problems anew; i. e., to spur prosperity.

He has been conferring with heads of departments. It is being revealed he is paying particular attention to the economic situation and its relation to current business.

Presumably, he will embody the information thus collected in his message to the special session. The idea is to make it appear that solution of the country's problems awaits the presidential dictum.

Possibly it does. It may be that the United States is so dependent on Mr. Roosevelt that it cannot think or act without taking its cue from him.

Two circumstances, however, suggest this situation is changing. One is the report that congressmen are not preparing to romp into Washington next week for a game of follow the leader. The other is the observation that the "great unseen audience" out in the country has been wondering how much difference there is between the white rabbits Mr. Roosevelt pulls out of a hat and the chickens that Mr. Hoover put into the pot. The country's appetite for optical illusions seems to be getting jaded.

PLAIN MUD

California, sometimes called the reservation for America's lunatic fringe, has been carried away by a puzzling fascination for mud, plain mud. Or so it seems, in other parts of the country where mud is just something to be cleaned up.

One recent picture shows freshmen and sophomores of the California Institute of Technology squirming cozily in their "annual mud battle." Another shows two wrestlers doing combat in a ring with a mud surface.

Perhaps mud is so unusual in California that customers pay to see it and undergraduates regard it as a novelty. More likely, California's fascination for mud merely proves that the human animal likes to get dirty and that the impulse, if given half a chance, is just as strong in undergraduates and adults as in children.

California must be following its usual policy. The customer is always right. If he doesn't want rain, he doesn't get any. If he wants mud, it's mud he will get, even if it has to be manufactured with a load of clay and a hose.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, November 12

Particularly lively and progressive conditions are read from the predominant lunar and mutual planetary configurations. There will be much stirring in business, property and with contracts, which will tend toward an enlargement of real possessions, such as insurance, trust deeds, etc. But be wary with all papers, lest misconception or distortion be possible. Be alert to young folk in a business way, but in social, domestic, romantic affiliations there will be much joyous activity.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively and progressive year with much worthy effort spent in giving stability and endurance to the fortunes. It is a propitious time for wills, insurance, trusts and other rewards of industry and fidelity. In social, domestic and affectional relations there may be unusual festivities and much happiness or romantic adventure.

A child born on this day may be industrious, studious, trustworthy, attracting the solid support of its elders. It should have a gracious, lovely and captivating personality.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—Manhattan has but a few left of those elderly and wealthy clubmen type Peter Arno limns so hilariously—the last of the vanishing aristocrats. They are seldom seen before 5 p. m. when, spruce and boutonniere, they fare forth for the vespers of scotch and soda.

They are the town's most meticulous dressers, expressing a sartorial sedateness, and they are lone wolves. Bows to a limited acquaintance list are quick and curt. They never stop to chat. More than any other class, they have the ice-coated air of hands off.

The higher grade restaurants on the fashionable East Side always have several of these gourmets for dinner. They select the table at which they dine solitaire as one might a rare jewel. And they study the menu in the rapt manner of a tourist perusing his Baedeker.

Cocktails are sipped slowly and the chill of the wine seems a matter of vast importance. Invariably a dish is sent back for more seasoning and the cigar is fingered tenderly and carefully sniffed before puffed with the same leisure. Major Pendennises all!

A knotty problem for smart and respectable bars is the handling of the girl bar-fly. She is something distinctly new in the metropolitan scene—a good looking, snappy dresser and quick on the uptake. But she never forces a flirtation and there is nothing of the old dropped-handkerchief approach. It may take a fellow several days to scrape up a bowing acquaintance, and it might be a week or ten days before she will accept a drink. By avoiding the usual cheap gestures, she manages eventually to land her catch. There is, of course, a craven slyster in the background who will arrange one of those "amicable settlements without publicity." That is, if the sucker comes across.

Floyd Gibbons has an especially built typewriter which he uses to prepare his broadcasts and newspaper copy. It has the standard keyboard and he can make it hum. But the type is five times the regular size and a line will not carry more than five words on ordinary sized copy paper. Floyd's remaining good eye is sound, but he wants it to remain so, and does everything to lessen the strain upon it.

The most recent market nose dive played hob with what Abel Green calls "the niteries." Business from the first dip fell off more than 50 per cent in the carriage trade clubs. That was also true of furriers, jewelers and the sundry luxury tradesmen whose business barometer coincides with the market. The most consistent of the big spenders are invariably those who have margin accounts, and when they are scorched they always remain home to lick their burns. While, because of the 1929 shaking out, the number of victims was smaller, there were comparatively as many wiped out in the recent debacle and shrewd statisticians say the actual panic was worse than '29. Boo!

September marked the fourth year since Stine Silverman's passing, with the usual annual pilgrimage to the grave of the Variety editor and founder. Each year a group of his pals meets at lunch and journeys to his crypt, where one of the pilgrims makes a speech. Last year it was Gene Buck. This year George M. Cohan, whose extemporaneous talk was largely quotations from his own philosophy as once expressed in his play, "Pigeons and People"—so long as man lives in the memory of his friends he is not dead, etc. There is something touching about these services for Stine, who was, like his mourners, "a hard boiled guy." In the wind or the rain they stand, heads bowed and bowed, and walk away misty eyed.

Armistice Day Finds Youth Fighting for Peace

Armistice day parade

Another Armistice day finds the youth of the nation marshalled under the banner of peace. On campuses throughout the United States, undergraduates have mobilized to outlaw war and the young men and women of the nation are campaigning to crystallize public opinion against American participation in foreign alliances or international entanglements. Some are so positive in their pacifist viewpoint that they declare they would go to prison before fighting. Others voice their willingness to fight in defense of their country if the United States were invaded, but few express themselves as willing to fight in any foreign war. It is apparent that Young America is largely pacifistic.

Facial Pimples

A RECENT editorial of the Journal of the American Medical Association points out the danger of pimples and furuncles of the face.

They may be a real menace to health. The editorial indicates that there is great diversity of opinion as to the treatment of this common infection. But all the authorities are agreed that it is dangerous to squeeze or prick a pimple of the face.

No matter how small or trivial this pimple may seem to you, bear in mind that faulty treatment may lead to serious blood poisoning. There is always a great temptation to squeeze it. This is especially the case with our fair daughters who are anxious that no blemish mar their beauty. Yet, yielding to this impulse is the cause of many permanent scars of the face. Also, as I have said, it has resulted in serious blood poisoning.

But why is it more dangerous to squeeze a pimple on the face than any other part of the body? The face, especially around the mouth, differs from other parts of the body in that the muscles are not enclosed in sheaths. This arrangement was made by nature to permit these muscles to have a large part in the movements of the face, movements that give the many expressions which so truly indicate our various emotions.

Infection Spreads

As the result of this difference of anatomy, it is possible for an infection to spread. A break in the skin permits ready access to the deep tissues, including the muscles of the face. The other muscles of the body are enclosed in dense envelopes and, of course, resist infection.

In addition, the tissues of the face are usually rich in blood vessels. There are many large arteries and veins around the nose, the upper lip and the angle of the mouth, as well as the chin. It will be seen that infections of the face at any of these points may quickly spread if the tissues are bruised and broken by squeezing. The poisons are absorbed and serious general infection may follow.

Let me warn all of you against the danger of carelessness in handling these infections alone. Let nature take her course. Keep the face clean and free of contamination. If in doubt consult with your doctor. He can best outline the needed treatment.

It is wise to avoid self-medication or self-treatment, whether it is for a pimple or a boil on the face, or for that matter anywhere on the body. Careless handling of infections of this nature often lead to complications. Rapid cure is as-

MAY TAP GOLD OF INCA KINGS

Planes Carry Equipment To Diggings Idle for 200 Years

LA PAZ, Bolivia — A rich gold mine in the jungle-covered valley of the little Tipuani river, unworked for about 200 years, will be reworked soon under a scheme calling for the transportation of 1,000,000 pounds of mining equipment by air over the four-mile-high Bolivian Andes.

Owners of the mining property, the Compania Aramayo de Minas en Boliva, have signed one of the biggest air-freight contracts in the history of aviation, hoping thereby to release a rich flood of precious yellow metal which untold centuries ago poured from the depths of the "jungle valley" to the throne of the mighty Inca kings and in the 16th century was diverted by the Spanish Conquistadores to the court of Seville.

Pan-America Grace Airways, an American concern, began transportation of the machinery at the rate of 10,000 pounds a day on Nov. 2, 1937, utilizing a tri-motored transport plane especially reconstructed to handle the heavy machinery. This plane completes the trip to the Tipuani valley within 28 minutes, compared to 10 days on the mountain trails.

Worked Once By Slaves
With the end of slavery in Bolivia came the end of mining along the "golden river". Through the past 200 years the trail over the Andean barrier used by the Incas and the Conquistadores has been lost. So inaccessible is the site, so treacherous the only path through the Andean peaks that only slave labor could make the project go. Conditions are so difficult that free men would neither work the mines nor submit to the tortures of transporting the one across the mountains.

It is believed that aviation will solve the problem. Plans of the controlling interests are to transport trained mining personnel as well as equipment to the valley, with actual mining operations to be started within a week of the time that the last of the machinery reaches its destination.

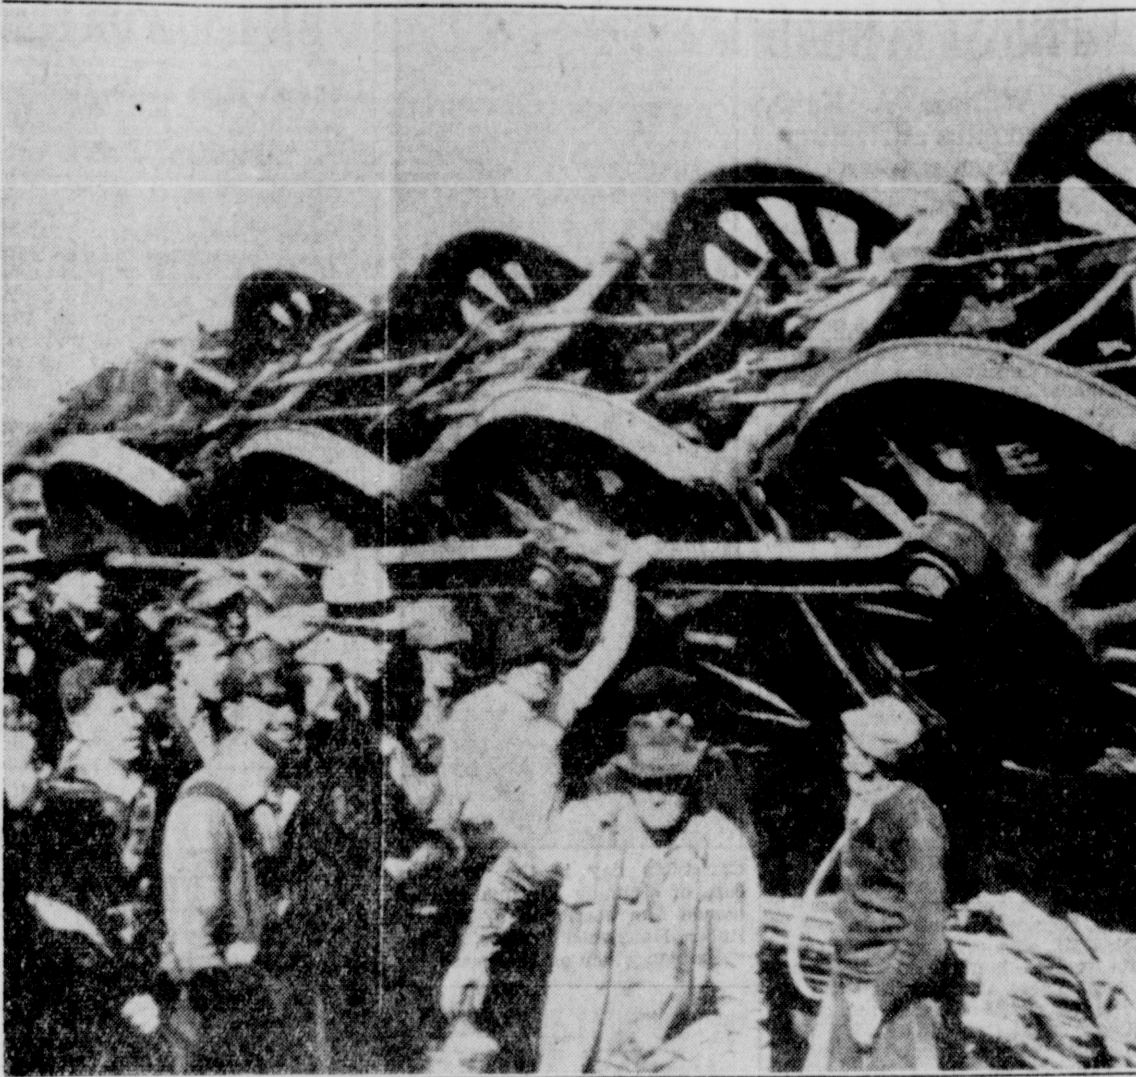

Burros and Llamas Tried
Some progress was made in the opening of Andean mines by developing the technique of burro transportation, and also by using llamas. A breed of supercharged burros was brought into being. The burros were provided with extra nostrils, an extra set of noles being opened in the nasal cavity when they were young. But a burro, carrying a maximum of 60 pounds on its back, could not make the trip in less than 20 days, and some of the individual pieces required for compressors and other machinery weigh up to 1,800 pounds. Thus aviation was given the job. The freight plane must fly 18,000 feet above sea level over the Cordillera. At the end of the trip there is a narrow valley choked with heavy jungles.

One hundred flying days, it was said, will be necessary to complete transportation of the equipment.

SALEM, Ore.—Years ago, soldiers say, the army diet consisted of "beans for breakfast, beans for dinner and beans for supper." But today youths in CCC camps throughout the country eat the same amount of salt as beans, which is only 3,275,000 pounds a year.

NEW ORLEANS—Exports and imports through the New Orleans customs district were second in the United States during the first seven months of 1937, according to Harold C. Jackson, district manager of the U. S. Bureau of Commerce here.

Once again the film colony is up in arms. Hollywood is threatening to institute a rigid censorship because of its indignation over the recent wave of "flesh" pictures and the manner in which radio gossips have been giving the lowdown on activities around the studios. Several headlines have been most embarrassed—among them Joan Crawford—by the revival of photos taken early in their careers showing them in streamlined poses. As a result, Madeleine Carroll, Frances Langford, Anne Shirley, Wendy Barrie and others have turned thumbs down on any publicity stills of the "leg" or "flesh" type. Considerable furor has also been aroused by the airing of studio secrets by radio columnists whose primary aim is to give the inside on doings around the film colony. As a result of the storm stirred by these two incidents, it may be the movie moguls may take rather drastic action.

land was climaxed in 1913 when he was appointed diocesan superintendent of schools.

Outstanding work in this field brought him wide recognition. Under his direction the educational methods and text book selection were standardized.

Msrgr. Kane began active civic work in Youngstown almost immediately after his resignation as pastor of St. Patrick's church here in 1923 to succeed Dr. Mooney. His wide interests and his radio work, during which he spoke over the Columbia Broadcasting System's Church of the Air, brought him to the attention of many outside his own religion.

Interested In Youth

During his pastorate in one of the largest Catholic parishes in the Youngstown deanery, Msrgr. Kane kept up his interest in youth work, generated in his own boyhood days when, although even then dubbed "father" by his youthful companions, he was an outstanding pitcher in sandlot baseball here.

Five years work as dean of the deanery, a position he assumed in 1929, brought recognition from Pope Pius XI, who conferred the domestic prelate honors in December, 1934. These carried with them the title of right reverend monsignor. The pope at that time lauded Msrgr. Kane's "character and capacity." Tangible records of the ever-increasing load of work which he took on his own shoulders here during his active years include an imposing new church on the city's South Side where thousands every week attended novenas at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal. He also established a youth camp at suburban Lake Milton, where hundreds of children were given vacations every summer.

Msrgr. Kane was one of ten children, eight boys and two girls. His father, a contractor, and mother came from Ireland as young people. One brother survives.

Mrs. Inman was formerly Miss Cleda Farmer of Lisbon.

Miss Mary Oliver, telephone operator at the court house, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from her duties.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott of East Liverpool was in Lisbon Wednesday on business.

Mrs. Clyde Taylor, Mrs. Martin Roemer and Miss Betty Roemer of Pittsburgh were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Barr Wednesday.

a retreat through Nantao. Tonight the only remaining Chinese were believed to be small, trapped units.

Stevens and employees were wounded when Japanese attacked Chinese in a sandbagged machine gun nest just outside the concession.

With eight other foreigners, Stevens had watched the battle from the platform of the 200-foot French water tower, just inside the concession boundary.

Turn Guns on Platform
Suddenly, Japanese turned up their machine guns and peppered

the platform with hundreds of bullets.

Stevens and his wounded companions were found when Captain Evans Carlson, United States marine observer watching the battle, saw blood dripping from the platform overhead and climbed up the tower.

While listening to Armistice day broadcasts from Shanghai and other centers, the nation's capital at Nanking saw 12 Japanese airplanes and the southern suburbs of the city and scouting planes dart over its northern environs.

One heavy bombing plane, diving low, struck a mushroom of anti-aircraft shrapnel. It burst into flames. Three of the Japanese crew of five bailed out with parachutes, the other two burned to death. Flying sparks set fire to two of the parachutes as they drifted downward. Of the crew of five, only one escaped alive.

Women everywhere are praising Parkay... Housewives, Home Economists, Food Experts call it "America's first real All-Purpose Margarine!"

Perhaps no food product in history has had such an enthusiastic acceptance as that given to Parkay. Parkay is welcomed not as just another margarine to choose from... but as a truly delicious margarine with important extra nutritional values that put it in a class entirely by itself, as a delightful, more nourishing spread for bread. Yet, Parkay costs so little you can actually use it for All-Purposes.

Parkay is Ideal for Use in Cooking! The rich, fresh Parkay flavor makes all cooked foods taste better. With Parkay Cake-making is a pleasure, it creams so easily. Makes crispy, tender cookies—and flaky pie-crust... the best you've ever made.

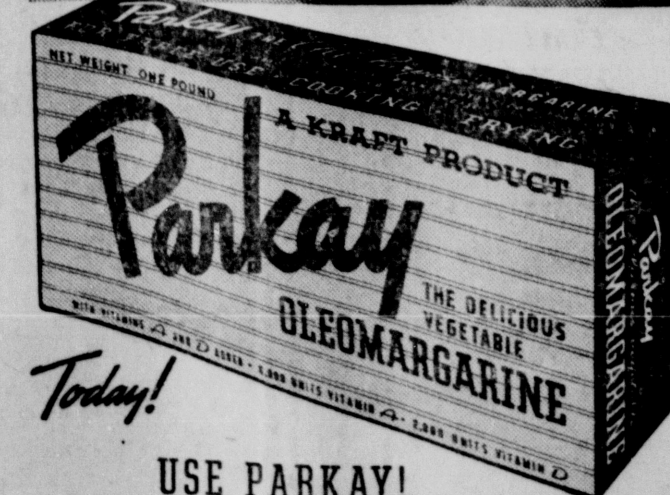

Perfect for Pan Frying—Never Spatters. Once you've tried Parkay for pan frying you'll never use a substitute. It bubbles gently up over the foods you fry, makes them taste much better, but Parkay never spatters nor sticks to the pan.

Make it with Parkay Eat it with Parkay

... and everyone needs the vitamins in this important new 3-Value Food

Here are three important reasons why Parkay belongs on your table 3 times a day as a wholesome nourishing food for your family.

- VITAMIN A—Essential to Growth. The Vitamin A added to every pound of Parkay greatly increases its nutritional value... makes Parkay a uniform year 'round source of this precious vitamin which is essential to growth. Give your family this extra nourishment—three times a day.
- VITAMIN D—The "Sunshine" Vitamin. The Vitamin D in Parkay also increases its nutritional value—makes it a reliable year 'round source of this "sunshine" vitamin—so important to everyone's health. It aids in formation of strong straight bones and hard, well-shaped teeth.
- FOOD ENERGY—The Body Fuel. Every active person, whether child or adult, requires an abundance of foods which supply energy to the body. The pure, wholesome vegetable oils from which Parkay is made are among the very best energy foods you can put on your table.

Gov. Davey's Relief Program Protested

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—More rumblings of protests against Gov. Davey's proposed 1938 relief program were heard today as cities, pressed to care for their needy, planned to send representatives to a meeting in Columbus to study the problem.
Rep. Lody Huml (D), chairman of the joint legislative committee on relief, bitterly attacked the governor's program while from Columbus came an announcement by Mayor Myron Gossman, that officials of about 100 cities, villages and townships would meet in Columbus Nov. 23 to discuss the relief problem.
Huml declared the relief program outlined by Gov. Davey when he announced a special session of the legislature for Nov. 29 was "the program of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce," and a "make-shift stop-gap" measure, inadequate for the needs of the situation.

Van Heflin and Marian Marsh in a scene from "Saturday's Heroes", showing Friday and Saturday at the Grand.

"Saturday's Heroes", which shows at the Grand Friday and Saturday, takes up the discussion of professionalism in college football.

The story, as timely as the opening whistle of a major gridiron contest, centers on the career of a pigskin hero who resents the system and works out a solution to defeat the problem.

Plan Is Unique
His method includes frank acknowledgment by institutions of learning that their athletes are subsidized, but his plan for obtaining the acknowledgment is both unique and practical. There is also a romantic plot of more than usual interest unfolded as the story progresses, and the characters which include football players, newspapermen, coaches, college officials as well as attractive co-eds and undergraduates, are all colorful.

An interesting sidelight on the sale of tickets to the big games is also offered as an important part of the plot, and for the first time, the public is let in on how the spoils are divided when duets sell for three, four, five and even ten times their established price.

A large cast of favorites, including Van Heflin and Marian Marsh appear in the principal roles. Others include Richard Lane, Alan Bruce, Willie Best, Minor Watson, George Irving, Charles Trowbridge, Bradley Page and Frank M. Thomas.

Conclude Tonight
Concluding tonight are: "Partners in Crime" with Lynne Overman and Rescoe Karns, Muriel Hutchison and Inez Courtney; and "Love Is On the Air", featuring Ronald Reagan and June Travis.

SCUFFLE MARKS KING'S PROGRAM

Man Yells "Hypocrisy!"
At British Armistice Rites

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—A man struggled through the naval guard protecting King George today at the World War Cenotaph in Whitehall and broke the solemn two minutes of Armistice day silence with the shout: "All this hypocrisy—you're deliberately preparing for war!"

There was a clatter of hoofs and mounted police threw the man to the ground, then shoved him back away from the king's guard.

King Remains Motionless
The king, at the gray stone memorial in a prayerful salute to the British empire's million war dead, stood motionless through the brief disturbance. The strident shout and sounds of the ensuing scuffle were carried over the radio.

The incident took place almost as close to the monarch as it was possible for any one in the dense crowd to reach.

The man shoved his way through the packed ranks of the naval guard at the end of 30 seconds of silence, shouting as he pushed.

He was of middle-age and wore a raincoat.

The demonstrator was identified at the home office as Stanley Storey, who escaped Sept. 21 from the Cane Hill asylum in Surrey.

Several subdued boos from the crowd added to the disturbance and when the horse guards' gun boomed the end of the two minute period there were cries from the throng—"kill him! kill him!"

Then the national anthem swelled from the throng, drowning further disorder.

Hustle Captive Away
Additional police rushed up and surrounded the disturber and kept the crowd at a distance. Police hustled their captive away into a Downing street ambulance station.

The thousands massed before the cenotaph were impressed by the composure of the king and his brothers during the unprecedented outbreak.

Not one of them gave the slightest sign they noticed the disturber although the man, dashing from the north side of Whitehall, seemed to be making a direct line for his majesty.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and members of his cabinet were standing with their backs to the disturber only three yards away when police brought him down.

The king, in army service uniform, was but about seven yards away.

Sailors of the guard were at stony attention when the man dashed through their ranks. They did not see him until he had penetrated their lines and then two policemen grappled with him.

The officers threw him to the ground and fell on top of him. The intruder went down shouting but police quickly clapped their hands to his mouth.

On Ground Two Minutes
The man was seized near the entrance to the home office. The officers held him on the ground there until the two minutes were up.

His groans and his muffled attempt to stammer some sort of explanation was heard by thousands of persons. He appeared almost unconscious when police half-carried, half-pushed him into Downing street. The angry crowds were kept back with greatest difficulty.

At the ambulance station he was given first aid, then taken into the Dominions office.

Witnesses said the man had one hand raised as he dashed through the ranks of the sailors. He seemed to trip, they said, just before the two policemen grabbed him.

King George and his brothers, the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent, stared straight ahead as the man was hauled away.

Queen Mother Mary and Queen Elizabeth looked down aghast from a home office window until bugles sounded taps and the voices of the multitude swelled up in "God Save The King."

The disturbance took place at the height of Britain's commemoration of the end of the World war.

DENVER—David H. Canfield, superintendent of Rocky Mountain National park, north of here, announced that 651,899 persons visited the park during the year ending Sept. 30. This was the greatest number of visitors in the history of the resort, showing an 18.4 per cent increase over last year.

Chinese Women on Picket Line

Picketing Japanese consulate

Protesting against Japanese invasion of their native country, Chinese women residents of San Francisco picketed Tokio consulate in the west coast metropolis, carrying banners urging an embargo of Japanese goods.

street. The angry crowds were kept back with greatest difficulty.

At the ambulance station he was given first aid, then taken into the Dominions office.

Witnesses said the man had one hand raised as he dashed through the ranks of the sailors. He seemed to trip, they said, just before the two policemen grabbed him.

King George and his brothers, the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent, stared straight ahead as the man was hauled away.

Queen Mother Mary and Queen Elizabeth looked down aghast from a home office window until bugles sounded taps and the voices of the multitude swelled up in "God Save The King."

The disturbance took place at the height of Britain's commemoration of the end of the World war.

DENVER—David H. Canfield, superintendent of Rocky Mountain National park, north of here, announced that 651,899 persons visited the park during the year ending Sept. 30. This was the greatest number of visitors in the history of the resort, showing an 18.4 per cent increase over last year.

Meaning—the Most Modern Automobile in the World is the new 1938 Buick—with DYNAFASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

IF YOU'VE put a sparkling 1938 Buick through its thrilling paces—

And tried to say in words what this stand-out car's got—

And found to your surprise you couldn't begin to do it justice—

Listen, don't think you're the only one!

"It's gotta lotta ummph!" say triers-outers vainly trying to express all the marvelous things they've felt.

"Ummph!" meaning zip—flash—power. "Ummph!" meaning all you ever expected to find in a car—and a great deal else in addition!

Fact is—demonstration, not conversation, is the thing to describe this new Buick.

To say it's quick—nimble—agile is to do only fractional justice to its DYNAFASH engine and what it does every time you touch off its thrifty power.

To call its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride velvety is only to participate its ride. Use the words jarless, level, floating, serene—and you come a little closer.

But still you neglect the directability this car gets from its new rear springing, the reduced risk of skidding, the simpler maintenance, and longer rear tire wear that go with it.

No, you can't cram a new Buick into words—only its action can tell its story.

And wherever there's a Buick dealer there's a chance to try this great car out—now, today!

MATCH THESE VALUES!

Complete with DYNAFASH engine and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, these models deliver at Flint, Mich. at these prices: Buick SPECIAL business coupe, $945; Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan, $1047; CENTURY 4-door touring sedan, $1297; ROADMASTER 4-door touring sedan, $1645; LIMITED 8-passenger sedan, $2250. Special accessories, local taxes if any and freight extra.

A SAFETY CUSHION ON EACH WHEEL!

Buick replaces the usual type spring with this special spring of stout coiled steel and big direct-acting Transport Type shock absorbers. Rigidly aligned by the Torque Tube, rear axle and wheels cannot twist or distort, cannot affect steering, greatly reducing danger from skids. No shudders, no grease points, no chatter, no premature rear tire wear.

QUINCY, Cal., Nov. 11.—The locomotive and a mail car of a Western Pacific passenger train plunged into the swollen Feather river today after the engine struck a rock in a narrow canyon at Pulca, 43 miles west of here. Heavy Champ Makes Film Debut

Club Would "Spot" Certain Husbands

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—The (take a deep breath) "S. P. O. M. P. A. B." wants to band stray husbands—so they can be spotted at a glance.

"The Society for the Prevention of Married Men Posing As Bachelors" proposed today that "all married men be compelled to wear wedding rings."

Miss Jessye Arnett, past president of Oklahoma's Business and Professional Women's clubs and founder of the mouthful of initials explained:

"Most of the girls I know don't have much time to waste. We need to know right off, whether a man is married or not."

WINDSOR SHUNS CHURCH RITES

Refuses to Attend Service After Statement of Pastor

"I would rather the duke did not attend the services," the vicar told the group. "I will be very sorry if the duke does not come. I will be very sorry if my statement is taken as a suggestion that the duke stay away."

The vicar then was told by Colonel Theodore Crowther, commander of the Paris post of the British Legion, that the duke already had decided he would be "unable to come." Crowther persuaded most of the 60 protesters to enter the church, but a half dozen refused. Members of the duke's suite said Windsor was "stunned" by the vicar's assertion yesterday.

The duke's friends called the incident the "third crisis" in his life—following his abdication and the cancellation of his proposed American trip.

"Apparently his path still is far from smooth," said one of his aides. "But he's a cocky little fellow. He's standing up and taking it. Now he's trying to figure out what to do next."

GRID WARFARE TO BE HEATED THIS WEEKEND

Army-Notre Dame Tussle Headlines Nation's Football Card

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Mr. Gus H. (Football) Fan can sit back this Saturday and enjoy hot inter-sectional warfare led off by the 24th anniversary of the classic Notre Dame-Army rivalry in New York.

There's potential dynamite in every battle, with the underdog swinging from his heels and hoping he connects. And there's a swell chance for the mid-west and south to knock the ears off the east's reputation as inter-sectional giant-killer.

In the majority of cases, except for such get-togethers as Notre Dame-Army affair and Michigan-Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, the easterners are favored. But in this dizzy football season, where a team is "champ" one week and "chump" the next, the odds are about as reliable as the weather.

Perhaps the standout possibilities for an explosion that could shake every gridiron from the rock-bound coast to the sun-kissed shores are offered at Pittsburgh where Pitt's power-packed Panthers, currently ranked No. 1 on the national list, entertain the unpredictable Cornhuskers from Nebraska.

Pitt has been going like a ball of fire since the Fordham fiasco. The Huskers, on other hand, after starting off with a terrific bang, have graduated downward to where their noise is of the poppingcorn variety. But there's always the chance that they might repeat what they did against Minnesota in their opener.

Notre Dame goes into the Army fray a 2 to 1 favorite of Broadway bettors. And North Carolina South Bend tell of a squad crippled by the mauling of Pitt and Minnesota, while Army is at or near full strength.

Penn just "hasn't got it" this year. Upset victims of Penn State in their latest trip to the post, the Quakers are tangling with a Michigan team that's riding a three-game winning streak.

Between the south and the east there are four red-hot ball games, topped off by the New England invasion by Kentucky to take on Gil Dobie's Boston college Eagles, and the battle of Maryland's surprising Terrapins against Penn State. Davidson stops off at Cambridge to hit Harvard, and North Carolina meets Manhattan in Brooklyn.

A southwest-south battle features the passing Razor-backs from Arkansas who face Mississippi State.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Army-Notre Dame is a sell out.... Only ducks left are in the hands of the specs.... These geeks look you straight in the eye and demand $12.50 for a $4.40 pastebord (somewhere near the 40-yard line).... "Broadway Sam" Roth, one of the biggest speculators, says the tariff will be $15.00 per by tomorrow morning.... and it's just another game at that, so far as national ranking is concerned.... Neither team has set the woods ablaze this year.... Just shows what tradition and ballyhoo will do for that gate....

This week's four best football "sleepers": North Carolina over Duke; Cornell over Dartmouth; Columbia over Syracuse, and Georgia Tech over Alabama.... This week's three-star special is Army to trim Notre Dame.... Latest sports rumors have Hank Gowdy, Boston Bees coach, following his old boss, Bill McKechnie, to Cincinnati, and Blondy Saunders, line coach, succeeding Capt. Gar Davidson as head coach at West Point next fall.

Fritz Crisler, put on a uniform down at Princeton yesterday to find out first hand why his Tigers aren't clicking.... Before he became a baseball big-shot, Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Reds, was one of the East's leading football officials.... You can look for the fireworks and plenty of them at next week's meeting of the state boxing commission.... New York writers are beating the drums for Fordham for the Rose Bowl.... And why not?.... The Rams have done everything asked of them except score on Pitt....

Babe Didrikson played an exhibition match in Chattanooga, Tenn., the other day and Al Sharp of the Chattanooga Times kept a record of her tee shots.... Afterwards, he wrote Babe's manager: "You only said she hit the ball a mile. I didn't know she hit it two miles." For the 14 holes on which she used a driver, the Texan averaged 237 yards—yes, yards.... Georgia Tech would like to have the AP's Sid Feder go down and report this week's clash with Alabama.... On the last three Saturdays of the season Brown beat Columbia, New York U. trip Colgate and Manhattan's surprise win over Detroit.

The American Automobile association and Elks No. 2 teams remained in a tie for first place in the Masonic Ladies' Bowling league at the Masonic temple alleys last night, the A. A. A.'s winning three games from the Electric Furnace and Elks No. 2 winning three from Elks No. 1.

The Kresge quintet, which was also tied for first last week, dropped into third place after winning only two of three games from Mullins. Ohio Edison won two out of three from the Salem News to continue in fourth place.

Mullins Die Room stayed on front in the Pastime league at the Grate alleys last night, chalking up three wins over Loudon V-8's. Still-loudon Chocolate Milks won two out of three from the Ohio Edison Electric Shop and the Police Dept. won three from the Citizens Ice & Coal in other matches.

An inter-city match at the Grate alleys last night saw the Salem News road team suffer defeat at the hands of the Alliance Town Taverners, 2722 to 2655. The Alliance team's score included a 1018 game. Mohar led the Alliance bowlers with a three-game score of 594. Coco of Alliance had the best single game with 244.

FRANK JULIAN WINS IN BOUT

Salem Grappler Pins Chicago Opponent In 8 Minutes

Big Frank (Toar) Julian, powerful young Salem wrestler, made quick work of Henry Firestone of Chicago in the first bout of All-American wrestling at Youngstown last night, pinning the Windy City mat artist in eight minutes of a scheduled 30-minute go.

Julian, who showed too much strength for his opponent to overcome, used a drop body pin to win the match. It was his second victory in less than a week.

Walter Stratton, veteran Leotonia grappler, had an easy time with Frankie Maygar of Texas in the semi-final and took the deciding fall in 19 1/2 minutes with a swinging full Nelson hold.

"Sunny Jim" Janning was awarded the verdict in the main go—after Andy Rascher, former Indiana university football player, was forced to quit the bout because of a dislocated vertebrae. Jennings had won one fall before Rascher was compelled to leave the ring.

BUD ERICKSON NEWEST COAST GRIDIRON STAR

Ernie Llain Main Reason For Rice's Comeback Down South

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—This is no spot for an All-America Amistice, particularly with this week's round-up revealing the exploits of many previously unsung heroes as well as the latest bids of established collegiate luminaries for all-star fame and recognition.

On the west coast for the first time this season, California's mighty Golden Bears yielded team as well as individual honors to a rival array, Washington's Huskies. Though escaping with nothing more damaging to their prestige than a scoreless tie, the ears were somewhat manhandled.

An outstanding individual reason for this upset, our coast scouts report, was Bud Erickson, Washington's senior center, who outplayed his renowned rival, Bob Herwig, and generally raised havoc with the ears' attack. Erickson called for everything from a five to seven-man line in checking California's hitherto unstoppable attack.

Vik Markow, at tackle and, Frank Peters, Chicago boys playing end for Washington, were other conspicuous performers.

The chief explanation for Rice's spectacular come back in the south west conference appears to be Ernie Llain, 212-pound halfback. Injured and kept out of his team's first three games, in which Rice failed to tally a point, Llain has been the sparkplug in three straight victories. Rated the best conference blocker, Llain is also a star passer, completing tosses for three touchdowns last Saturday against Arkansas.

Hugh Wolfe of Texas, backfield star of a team that had been operating in reverse for weeks, enjoyed the heroic role for the first time when his field goal provided the margin of victory over previously unbeaten Baylor.

In the Big Ten, Michigan's Stark Ritchie tallied the two belated touchdowns that enabled the Wolverines to beat Chicago. An Illinois backfield sub, Tony Markella, led the scoring drive that upset Northwestern. Hero of Indiana's conquest of Ohio State was George Miller, who played a decisive role at center, despite a fractured thumb, and kicked a field goal.

Three of the outstanding All-America backfield candidates (Clint Frank of Yale, Whizzer White of Colorado, and Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh, turned in spectacular performances last Saturday. Frank rushed over all three of Yale's touchdowns, White reminded Dutch Clark in his palmy days of tallying all 17 points for Colorado against Utah, while Goldberg was the sparkplug of Pitt's power attack against Notre Dame. The Colorado star is among the nation's high scorers, with 79 points.

For the second straight week, the passing skill and all-around play of Wilmet Sidat-Singh, dusky Syracuse backfield star, featured an Orange triumph over Western Reserve. Columbia's Sid Luckman, even though on the losing side against Navy, was the backfield ace of the fray. Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross, hampered earlier by injuries, proved to Colgate's annoyance that he rates with the hardest driving backs in the game.

Pitt Draws Crowd
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—The second largest crowd in the University of Pittsburgh's gridiron records will see the Pitt-Nebraska clash in the Panther stadium on Saturday.

Counting up ticket sales today, Pitt officials said there would be 71,330 in the stadium and in specially erected seats. Seventy-four thousand saw Notre Dame and Pitt play in 1936.

Want Games
Sandy's Collegiate of East Liverpool are seeking basketball games with leading teams in the Salem district. Managers of local teams wishing to book games with the Collegiate may phone Chuck Himes at 9088, East Liverpool, or write William M. Hall, 1474 East Sixth st., East Liverpool.

Trio of Winners at Horse Show

Setting a record that will be hard to equal in future years, Lieut. Scott N. Sanford of the United States Army team won first and second prizes in the jumping competition at the National Horse Show in New York. Lieutenant Sanford is pictured with Ugly (left) and Masquerade, his mounts which carried him through perfect performances.

Schmeling Arrives Today To Start "Warm-Up" Bouts

German Heavyweight Hailed by Promoters As Most Important Man In Boxing

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The red carpet has been rolled out for Max Schmeling, pugilism's gift to the steamship lines, as he comes back doggedly today, once more looking and longing for that heavyweight championship he mislaid in Madison Square Garden bowl more than four autumns ago.

Mike Jacobs and the other big shots aren't dodging the smiling, persistent German this time like they did last June when he showed up for his "phantom" fight with Jim Braddock.

Wrestling Program Planned For Dec. 3

Salem wrestling fans will be offered their second show of the season, Friday, Dec. 3, it was announced today by Bill Roebusch, promoter of the show for the K. of F. lodge.

Roebusch plans to have Walter Stratton of Leotonia, who was a favorite with local fans several years back, appear on the card.

Bloom Injured
HIRAM, Nov. 11.—Injuries kept Quarterback Bob Bloom and Center Dwight Hamblin on the bench today and trainers said they would not be in uniform when Hiram college closes its season at Detroit Tech, Saturday. Bloom, a contender for Ohio scoring honors, has back injuries and Hamblin a twisted ankle.

Carr Goes Home
COLUMBUS, Nov. 11.—Joseph P. Carr, National Professional Football league president, was removed from a hospital to his home yesterday. He had been receiving treatment for a heart ailment since he entered the hospital Sept. 20.

GOPHERS SEEK REVENGE FROM BIG TEN TEAM

Minnesota Doesn't Need Priming For Battle With Wildcats

By WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—For Coach Bernie Bierman is asking no help this week from Psychology. Bernie Bierman in the job of getting Minnesota's Golden Gophers primed to let Northwestern take it Saturday.

Bierman has been able to stick strictly to improving the block and tackling and the execution of plays—for the Gophers need a "keying up" at least 12 of the have been waiting for Saturday ever since Oct. 31 last year when Northwestern wrecked a perfect season for Minnesota by blowing out a 6 to 0 triumph.

Ohio State's plans for battle against Illinois were upset when Trainer Ken Stark said Johnny Rabb, first string fullback, would not be able to play because of a knee injury suffered in the Indiana tussle last week. The Illini disappointed Coach Bob Zuppke by failing to gain consistently against the freshmen and allowing the yearlings to break away for several long runs, using Buckeye formations.

Indiana, eyeing a chance to win runnerup honors in the title race hustled through a highly satisfactory drill, their last hard assignment before meeting Iowa. Carl Tubbs devoted the forward pass to polishing up the forward pass offense and defense. Harry Schneider was "terribly discouraged" over the manner in which the freshmen pushed the Wisconsin varsity about with Purdue plays. The Boilermakers worked under limit to add power to those same plays in getting ready for the Badgers.

Michigan again concentrated its offense which has been reeling for the meeting with Pennsylvania. Chicago's varsity put in another day of work in preparing for the Illinois game next week while reserves drilled to get ready for their big moment—the starting assignment against Beloit Saturday.

Elmer Layden staged another search for reserves to help out at Notre Dame varsity against Army at New York.

"THE SILVER ROOD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XVII

"We haven't searched any of his belongings," I said. "I'll go up, come on along."

The nurse, knowing Harper, didn't seem surprised. Evidently she guessed that it all had something to do with some crime or other. She made no comment as we started the search.

The first we found were newspaper clippings about the murder. That would be natural for almost any butler, living on an adjoining estate, to clip these, we agreed in whispers.

Then we found a small notebook. In it were the addresses of ten people of society and wealth. "Places where he has worked, in his search," I whispered.

Foxcroft shrugged his shoulders. Harper nodded.

Nothing else in the steamer trunk or drawers or small wall desk that would give us a hint I looked in the bath room. There was an old fashioned shaving mug, unlettered. In it was an old fashioned razor in a worn leather case. I examined this and brought it out.

It bore the name of a firm in Zurich!

"He bought his razor in Zurich!" I declared, with a bit of triumph.

That was all we could do there. Major Forrest told us the little he knew about Mason. He had worked for him a little more than two years. He had come with excellent references and his work always had been beyond reproach. Mason had claimed to be English. He seemed to have no noticeable accent of any sort.

Foxcroft said, "Just keep tabs on Lardeau, as a matter of form. It looks as though the old boy told everything straight."

They left. The folks retired. I talked with Lardeau and Dave over a bottle of wine, for another hour. My brother Phil came home. He had been out to a dance with a local girl and he was disgusted to think that he hadn't been home to see the "fun," as he called it.

"Did this man," I asked Lardeau, "look anything like Fritz Lutzmann?"

Lardeau thought it over. He shook his head.

"I couldn't say, Mr. Stevenson. After all, a quarter of a century is a long time and a man changes greatly. Fritz Lutzmann was young, around my age, perhaps, at the time. Thirty, I would say. He was tall, had dark hair, and if you see a man of thirty and don't see him for twenty-five years, and he wasn't a friend or relative, would you know him?"

"I doubt it," I said, "but would he recognize you?"

"I doubt that, too, however, he would never forget the name. Lardeau was the name of the man who had him put in jail. He knew that I, having taken the painting there, was the one who, even more than my father, insisted that he be jailed. That, and perhaps the fear that I recognized him at the house—if it were this man, mind you, may have been his reason for trying to kill me as soon as possible."

"But what a risk—playing sick so as not have you see him at the table—then sneaking out back of the shrubs with all of us not ten feet away!"

"My dear Mr. Stevenson, a man daring enough to go up there in daylight and kill Mr. Monteth, would dare anything."

We finished the wine and went to our rooms.

Doctor Sutton came over early,

with a day nurse.

"Well, it looks more promising," he reported, when he came down from the room, "it is a confusion, not a fracture, if he doesn't come out of his coma in another twelve hours I shall operate, trepan, to relieve the pressure."

"And then he will talk?" I asked.

"He can talk, then. Whether he will depends on how he feels about it."

"He'll talk," I said grimly.

Sergeant Harper was over after this. He said that the rust-stained loop in the window cord fitted, perfectly, to every rust spot in the eyelet of the snail weight.

"This cord that hanged Brauman came from Mason's window, and that's enough evidence to send him to the chair," Harper said.

He decided to hang around for a while. I went up to see Mary.

When she learned what had happened she telephoned Howard Griswold at once. I imagine that he was mighty hopeful. She said he was coming right over.

The silver rood, Harper agreed, had had together too much hanging by myself, my wife's people and Mason, to make it worth while to try to get finger prints. Harper wanted it.

"You can have it for all time in a little while," I promised.

At luncheon Mary and Griswold came over. Foxcroft had telephoned he couldn't get over. At Griswold's eager solicitation, I went over everything, the Lardeau story and the events of the previous evening.

"It all depends—if this man dies, what then?" he asked.

At that very moment Russell came out with the information that the nurse wanted me.

I took Harper along with me, and also Professor Lardeau. I asked them to wait in the hall and tapped on the door. The nurse came out and closed the door.

"He is conscious," she said, "he asked the time, where he was, and for a drink of water."

"Give him the drink, and let us know when we can go in," I said.

Ten minutes later she opened the door and beckoned.

Sergeant Harper and Professor Lardeau, at my request, followed me, but stood back by the door. Mason—we will call him for the moment—was staring out of the window. I walked over to the bed.

"Mason," I said.

"Yes, sir."

"The devil you're Mason—you're Fritz Lutzmann—you made this thing!" I held up the silver rood with the blade out. "You killed Monteth with it!"

He stared at me and actually smiled.

"That is right. It is right that I am Lutzmann. Mr. Stevenson, it is right that I made the rood knife, and it is right, and just, that I killed the man who stole my wife, stole a painting and so sent me to jail and ruined my life. Nothing matters now."

"You killed Brauman!"

"The foot came to me for money, he saw me."

"Then you hanged him with the cord from your window, and last night you tried to kill Lardeau."

"Didn't I kill him? I should—that is bad. He sent me to jail—he laughed when I swore my wife had been stolen—he recognized me, I am sure, up at the house that day. I am sorry it was dark and I slipped and didn't finish him."

"It means the chair. Will you make a confession?"

"I have. I won't live for the chair. I—"

The nurse came over.

"He's weak, can't you let him get stronger?" she asked.

We promised, and went out. I rushed to the telephone and got Mary, to tell her the news knowing that Howard Griswold was up there with her, awaiting the word that would clear him.

We went down to finish our interrupted luncheon.

The nurse came down and asked me to send for the doctor again.

"He is much worse," he asked me to have the doctor, he said his head is driving him crazy."

Russel rushed to the door and beckoned. I went to him.

"He's jumped out of the window, sir—three stories down on the cement drive—don't let the ladies come out," Russel whispered.

I went out. It was true enough. Fritz Lutzmann had cleverly sent the nurse away and then plunged down, head first. It was a horrible sight. We covered the body and I went back and told them what had happened.

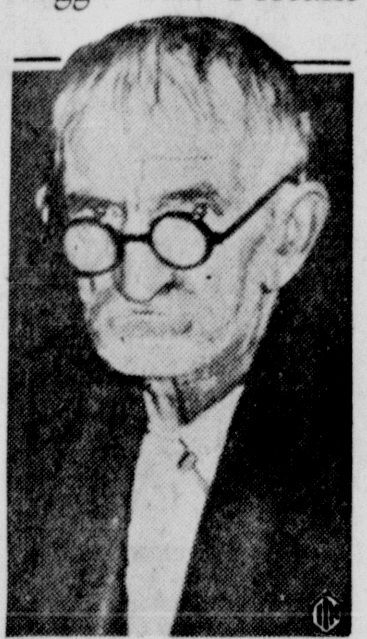

"It saves the state a lot of money, I suppose, but I would have liked to see that man fry," Harper declared.

I handed him the silver rood.

"Here," I said, "take it—none of us ever want to see it again."

Beggar Has Fortune

William F. Beck

William F. Beck, 67, presented a most pitiful appearance when he stopped at the jail in North Plainfield, N. J., to ask for lodging, but sympathy turned to amazement when it was discovered that he had $25,193 in bills on his person and in banks. He explained that he was saving for his "old age." Relatives are now reported on their way "to take care of him."

Loan Firm Named In Damage Action

LISBON, Nov. 11.—The Pottery Savings & Loan Co. of East Liverpool was named defendant in a suit for $30,000 damages filed Tuesday in common pleas court by Beatrice Linger, East Liverpool.

Injuries sustained when the porch of a residence owned by the defendant company collapsed Aug. 29, 1936, were given as the cause of the action. The plaintiff states she approached members of the company on the date mentioned, intending to rent a house from them. She was referred, the petition states, to a property located at 309 Persimmon alley, East Liverpool.

The plaintiff asserts she walked onto the front porch and that a portion of the flooring collapsed, seriously injuring her. She says a spine injury and concussion of the brain resulted from the accident.

The petition charges the company failed to inspect the porch and that the lumber was decayed and rotten at the point where the flooring collapsed.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. — "Soda pop" was the only beverage served at the Franklin county retail beer dealers picnic. The picnic was held on a Sunday, and an agent of the liquor control board warned the retailers at the last minute that they would endanger their licenses if beer was served.
